Emp. 6/11/21/2 The wrecked gas-boat of Jimmy Matthews of Kake was found on Cape Bendel and it is assumed that he drowned near by.

Emp. 11/27/1922/8 Pat Berry was found dead, tied to the mast of his boat "Ukelele", and with a bullet hole in his head! His boat was found awash at Kake. It seems he had left Security Bay in a howling gale with his dog and in company of two other trollers. The other two put in behind Kekeu Islands and Berry made it to Kake. One of the other boats was skippered by Al Lindegard. He anchored off Gunnicks Creek flat and when the tide went out he went dry. Indians digging clams spoke to him and he said he was O.K and would float off next tide. During the night a shot was heard and come morning only the poles of the boat were above water and the grizzly discovery was subsequently made.

Emp. 11/29/1922/5 More on Berry----Investigators decide he died of drowning!!! ????? V.G.

KETCHIKAN PUBLIC UTILITIES

~~K.D.N. 6/9/1956 From the foregoing (See Ketch Water problems) one may come to the conclusion that we are against public ownership. Believe it or not, WE ARE, Barnum once said: "There's a sucker born every minute" Perhaps we could find one who would purchase this local extravagance. We could then use the money to pay on the city indebtedness and get back on an economy geared to a small fishing town.~~

Gazing into a somewhat blurred crystal ball, we predict that a private firm could take over the utilities, pay taxes to the city, pay dividends to the stockholders, and lower rates. Also under private enterprise electric users would have recourse to the courts under any rate raises. Do we have this under public ownership? We'll answer that---you take it and 'LIKE' it.

KETCHIKAN WATER PROBLEMS

K.D.N. 6/9/1956 After looking over the new water rate schedules we have come to the conclusion that 150" of rainfall per year is not enough. Water is becoming an expensive commodity, yes, even a luxury.

The new schedule will undoubtedly educate people in this city that water is a valuable resource, something ~~to~~ to conserve and to be appreciated. The higher a commodity costs the more appreciation one usually shows for it.

SEE MORE ON CARD HEADED 'KETCH. PUBLIC UTILITIES'

Getting back to water, if it becomes too expensive, one can always drink whiskey. We can vote for the drink part, but we don't know about the reactions if one has to use it to bathe in.
