HISTORICAL NOTE

The State of Alaska banned fish traps in 1959, at the time of statehood, and the ban took effect in 1960. For further information, the library has books on the history of the Pacific American Fisheries company and about salmon fisheries from the mid-1800s to mid-1960s. See also the Pacific American Fisheries Records 1875-1994, Western Washington University, Center for NorthWest Studies, and the Hubbell & Waller Records 1908-1976, University of Fairbanks, Alaska Polar Regions Collections & Archives for further background information and related collections.
