

Alaska State Library
Historical Collections

Guide to Collection

Chabot, Maurice J.

Maurice J. Chabot Photograph Collection, 1944

PCA 372

44 photographs

Processed: Nov. 1996

By: India Spartz

ACQUISITION: Maurice Chabot received the photographs from the estate of a deceased relative and donated them to the Historical Collections in April 1996 (Acc. No 1996-043).

ACCESS: The photos may be viewed, however they may not be photocopied.

COPYRIGHT: Request for permission to publish or reproduce material from the collection should be discussed with the Librarian.

PROCESSING: The photographs are numbered, however there is no inventory.

Biographical Note

Mr. Chabot received the photographs from the estate of a deceased relative who served in the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers in Alaska during World War II. They arrived in a War Dept. envelope with the note, "Lt. Pooler, from the Rebel. Hope you can use these."

Scope and Content Note

The collection consists of 44, 8x10 in. black and white images from the U.S. Army Signal Corps which depict the construction of an airport, surveying and construction of the Alaska-Canadian (Alcan) Highway during World War II by over 11,000 army personnel and 7,500 civilians. The collection also contains several unidentified desert scenes.