LEGAL RESOURCES

*Open to all
January 30
Instructor: Katie Fearer*

Legal resources are becoming more prevalent on the internet, but they are not always free, some are still only available on paper, and it is sometimes difficult to know where to begin your legal research. In this webinar, we will provide an overview of the different types of legal resources available online and in libraries, where to find them, and when it is most appropriate to use each. This is an introductory webinar, intended primarily for people without extensive legal research experience.

FINDING ARTICLES

*Open to all
February 6
Instructor: Maeghan Kearney*

Looking for articles for your research?
State employees have desktop access to over 30,000 free full-text periodicals. In this webinar we'll show off our new Find Everything search; teach you to navigate Google Scholar, ScienceDirect, Journal Finder, and EBSCOHost Databases; and tell you best practices for using the Alaska State Library's interlibrary loan service.

ALASKA HISTORY ONLINE

March 13
Instructor: Freya Anderson*

Whether you need specific details for a report or just want to learn more about our great state and her people, there are some wonderful, free online resources on Alaska history. Whether you're a Cheechako new to Alaska, or are already a confirmed Sourdough, our state is large and diverse enough that there's always more to learn. Join us to get started!

NOVELIST

March 27
Instructor: Maeghan Kearney*

Have you just finished the last book in a series and want to find another series that's similar? Or want to find a book, but can't remember anything more than it was about knitting and solving crime? This webinar covers NoveList, a database of fiction titles, authors, series, and other reader-focused content that's accessible to all Alaskans. We'll include plenty of time for practice, so bring your book interests to class with you.
