About the Alaska Community Directory

Change is alive and well throughout our communities in Alaska. As a result of the dynamic nature of communities, officials and other contact information are some of the most challenging data to collect and keep current. The bulk of the data found in the Community Directory was collected in November and December of 2007. This means that the information in the printed copy of the Alaska Community Directory becomes progressively outdated as the calendar year passes. However, Research and Analysis staff incorporates changes to the main database as these changes emerge, making the online version of the Alaska Community Directory one of the most current resources for community level contact information. Please visit the Alaska Community Directory at:

http://www.commerce.state.ak.us/dca/MuniDirPublic/MODP.htm

The State of Alaska, Department of Commerce, Community, and Economic Development (Commerce), complies with Title II of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990. This publication is available in alternative communication formats upon request. Please contact Jennie Starkey at 907-269-4560 or Jennie.Starkey@alaska.gov to make necessary arrangements. Commerce's Telephonic Device for the Deaf (TDD) number is 907-465-4537.

This publication was released by the Alaska Department of Commerce, Community, and Economic Development. It was produced at a cost of $_____ per copy. It was printed in Anchorage, Alaska. This cost block is required by AS 44.99.210.

STATE OF ALASKA
OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR
JUNEAU

January 2008

Dear Fellow Alaskan,

Alaska is blessed with a wonderful variety of people, languages, cultures, regions, communities, and industries. While we may have different perspectives on particular issues, it is clear that there are many fundamental goals and principles that we share in common.

As Governor, I share all Alaskans' desire to see our state secure a prosperous future, safeguard our communities, and maximize our precious natural resources in a responsible manner. Our most immediate opportunities for achieving these goals include making a natural gas pipeline a reality, improving education and training programs for young Alaskans, and finding ways government can do more with less.

As we work together to meet these and the other challenges facing us as Alaskans, it is essential that government agencies and public officials at all levels have the communication tools they need to share information, learn from each other, and use that information for the common good. To that end, the Division of Community and Regional Affairs has created this Community Directory. The Community Directory is a new publication that collects and presents key information about Alaska communities, including local government officials, regional affiliations, a survey of services and more into one accessible and useful package.

I commend the division for its foresight in assembling this Community Directory, and I recommend it to you and all Alaskans as a valuable tool that will facilitate communication between and among communities, agencies, and government officials.

I look forward to serving you in the upcoming year. Together we can keep important issues in the forefront and create new opportunities for the future. Thank you for your interest and participation in Alaska's state government.

Sincerely,

Sarah Palin
Governor
