04:17 to: Robert Barr

gotcha

11:08 to: Amy 1

:-)

11:14 to: Claudia Haines

Welcome Amy!

13:36 to: Rebecca 2

Planning some for January

13:48 to: Amy 1

Hi Claudia!

14:42 to: KJ Hillgren

I hear you!

14:43 to: LAM

Can hear

14:44 to: Robert Barr

yep

14:46 to: Amy 1

Yes

20:28 to: KJ Hillgren

Yes! Just google "Gamer Gate" to find out why.

20:38 to: KJ Hillgren

All-girls HS graduate here.

We have a handout of Claudia's resources we'll handout right before our Q&A.

47:21 to: Amy 1

Uh oh... lost audio?

47:54 to: LAM

can you hear now?

48:01 to: LAM

Anyone hear us?

48:03 to: Rebecca 2

I can hear

48:05 to: KJ Hillgren

I can

48:43 to: Rebecca 2

Sounds fun. We were planning to do just Scratch.

48:54 to: Rebecca 2

I may plan another session with more choices.

48:56 to: KJ Hillgren

My regulars are fans of two things: legos and minecraft. Do you know if the hour of code offers anything that might appeal to them?

49:30 to: Robert Barr

I've heard about people making actual computer programs within minecraft, but it's pretty complex

49:52 to: LAM

Beyond one hour of code section has this for legos -

50:13 to: KJ Hillgren

Excellent!

50:48 to: KJ Hillgren

I had a great Minecraft program back in Baltimore, but none here yet.

54:16 to: Robert Barr

thank you, both

54:23 to: KJ Hillgren

Thanks!

54:47 to: Rebecca 2

Thanks.
