D.A.Disp. 4/13/1910 says she and the "Rustler" were to take over the run of the "Georgia" which was south for an overhaul. Capt. James York and purser Manning were on her.

D.A.Disp. 11/4/1916 pp.8; "Pacific" owned by C.E.Tibbits, hung up on the rising tide, at the city float and sunk. The engineer was asleep and woke up when the water poured on the hot stove. She can be raised.

D.A.Disp. 11/10/1916 pp.3 "Pacific was raised and beached and today she caught fire from an overheated stove and her hull was saved by the fire Dept.

EMPIRE: 7/19/1934 (Empire--20 yrs. ago 1954) M.S. "Pacific" Capt. Paul Kegel, was going into private shipping, it was announced by J.B.Caro & Co., owners.

Emp. 6/1/1920/8 "Pacific", Capt. John Winn, took the run for the "Estebeth" to Skagway, while the latter is on the beach for repairs.

Emp. 3/11/1927/6 "Pacific", Capt. C. Geddes, to start run Port Alexander & way ports (Run vacated by "Estebeth")
1240 tons; Built 1920 by Kruse & Banks at North Bend for their own account.

Had a triple expansion engine of 850 h.p. built by Pacific Marine Iron Wks. of Portland, Ore.

In 1922 sold to W.R. Chamberlin, of S.F. and renamed "Barbara C" and still trading under that name and ownership in 1946.

1. Not sure on her—she may be in Lewis & Dryden.
Sank off Cape Flattery on night of Nov. 4, 1875 with loss of over 250 lives. Only 2 saved. Collided with the sailing ship "Orpheus". SEE BELOW

That the binnacle was from the "Pacific" however is highly improbable as she was lost in 1875, and the first ship in the world to be rigged for electricity was the S.S. "Columbia" of the Pacific Mail Line in 1880, according to word from Tom Sandry. The binnacle still carries the electric wire by which she was lighted and burned into the mahogany inside the binnacle housing.

EXTRACT FROM JUNE, 25, 1949 Marine Digest in story of old binnacle brought up from off Cape Flattery by a beam trawler early in 1949.

The "Orpheus" thought the "Pacific unharmed and proceeded on her way only to be wrecked in a few hours on rocky coast of Vancouver Island. M.D. 12/2/50
1/2/1933 "Pacific", Capt. Paul Kegel, hit a rock off Whitney Island at 07:15 Fri. Dec. 30th in a snow storm sustaining some damage and a bad leak. She bounced clear however, and proceed to Petersburg where she was pulled out and repaired.

1/5/1933/6 Halibut boat "Excel" arrived with the "Pacific" mail, Mate W.A. Sepponen of the "Pacific" acting Capt. while the "Pac." is being repaired at Petersburg.

12/5/1933/6 "Pacific" arrives, ice-covered; Worst trip in Paul Kegel's memory.

Will be purchased as a floating maritime museum by the San Francisco Maritime Museum and be tied up at Pier 43 in the Bay City for public inspection, it was reported today.

She is the last full-rigged ship on the Pacific Coast and was towed from Sausalito to the Bethlehem Pacific shipyard in S.F. July 12, 1954 for drydocking and inspection.

Preliminary examination of the historic vessel in D.D. proved her hull to be sound and the 86 year old ship will probably be bought by the museum from her present owners for an agreed purchase price of $25,000.

She was built in Glasgow, Scotland as the "Balclutha" and later became the "Star of Alaska" for the Alaska Packers ASSN.

She was the last full-rigged ship to fly the American flag and the museum expects to renovate her, rechristen her with her original name---"Balclutha" and open her up for public inspection at Pier 43 in S.F.

See pp. 137 in AMERICAN NEPTUNE Apr. 1956 for her connection with filming of MUTINY ON THE "BOUNTY"
9/8/1936/6 Full-rigger, with 39 Calif. youths on a training cruise, was becalmed 675 miles West of Los Angeles and had to be towed in by the C.G. "Shoshone" She had hardly averaged 35 miles a day and had to be provisioned five times by passing ships! Had left July 4th on a one months cruise.

ALASKA SPORTSMAN Feb. 1956; pp. 21 She ran on Geese Island reefs in 1904 and was so hard aground that four days later she was sold to the Alaska Packers Assn. for $500.

Was the first of the fleet of Furness S.S. Co. and was a refrigerated motorship. Used in the trade between Pacific Coast ports and Europe via the Panama Canal. The run was discontinued in 1940 due to the War. She made her last departure from Seattle in Dec. 1939 and was torpedoed Mar. 4, 1940 in the English Channel.

Second vessel of name—her predecessor was sunk by a German sub off the west coast of Eng. Mar. 5, 1940. Her entire crew of 53 men escaped in 6 lifeboats. The 6717 ton vessel wallowed for many hours before sinking. The pict. on the cover (Porthole) is of the old vessel.

New "Pacific Reliance" is 9000 tons and owned by the British firm of Furness Withy & Co. She is a motorship.

Listed in old blue books as the "C. P. Patterson"
First measurement 720 tons; Later 453 tons.
Built in Brooklyn, N.Y. in 1882 as a steam barkentine for the Coast and Geodetic Survey for whom she served for many years. 175' x 27.3' x 14.2'.

In later years she was stripped of her rigging and re-engined. Some years later we find her owned by the Northern Whaling and Trading Co. of N.Y. who sent her to the Todd yards and converted her into an auxiliary powered schooner in 1926. She went north to engage in whaling and trading to Capt. Nome out of S.F.

In 1938, she was sold by Capt. C.B. Peterson to Gilkey Bros of Seattle and incorporated under the name of Alaska Patterson, Inc. and carried freight and supplies for Gov't. Left on first trip 7/24/38 Capt. Walt Timm became ill in Nome and left her in charge of Mate A.J. Hartland who completed trip. On second trip she was returning south in Dec. 1938 when she hit at Cape Fairweather. (More in article album)

ALASKAN (Sitka) 10/5/’95 Arr. Sitka: Capt. E.K. Moore

EMPIRE Mon. Dec. 12, 1938 Motorship "Patterson" aground near Yakutat.--Breaking up--One man reported lost--crew of 20 in danger... Comdr. Ricketts of "Haida" found wreck about 8 miles north of Cape Fairweather. Pilot Shell Simmons flew over wreck and reports survivors on beach. She wired her plight shortly after midnight Dec. 11, 1937 (?) and gave her position as 'about 20 miles south of Yakutat. (On the Northbound leg of this trip she had bounced off the Eye Opener in Sumner Str. but was apparently undamaged and came on to Juneau. Proceeded West with 700 tons cargo for Anchorage, Kodiak, King Cove, Unga and Sumak Island. Simmons dropped food and etc. to them. Rescue crew composed of Nels Ludwigsen, Vic Manville, Tony Thomas and Howard Hayes
Tom Sanvik and Tom Smith came in on the C.G. "Cyane" "Patte son" built 1882 at Brooklyn N.Y.
The rescue team along with some of the "Haida" boys left for Lituya Bay on Dec. 20. On Dec. 21 they were about 8 miles above Lituya at daybreak and about 26 miles from wreck. On 22nd. 6 of survivors spent night of 21st at 8 mile cabin and the rest (10) at a point 12 miles north of Lituya Bay. ( Took 5 hours to build a raft to cross a creek. On 23rd. 9 were taken on board the "Haida" and 7 more were flown out of the Bay by 2 Navy bombers. Those on "Haida" were Capt. Harry Burnes, Les Campen, Freeman Hobart, Ed Boyce, R.M.Ingram, P Malakoff, Ray Newtsen and L.R.McCourbry

Four men had come ashore from the wreck in a life boat and the rest came ashore at low tide from a ladder over the bow. A landing field 1200' x 110' had been made for the planes to land. Gordon Graham, mechanic with pilot Shell Simmons and with guide Nels Ludwigsen, (who had been left out of jail where he had served 6 days of a 10 day sentence for drunkenness. Jim Huscroft of Lituya took supplies to a 3 mile cabin and more food was dropped at the scene. (Described as 'week of torture')

D.A. Disp. 5/30/1917 pp. 6; "Patterson" touched Star Rock at entrance to Lisianska Strait on the 28th and lost her rudder. A jury rudder was rigged and she limped into Inian Cove where she wired to Capt. L.O. Colbert of the wire drag-boat "L Roscoe" which came to the Cove and towed her into Juneau for possible beaching and repairs.

D.A. Disp. 5/31/1917 pp. 6; "Patterson" beached at Treadwell for rudder repairs. Survey str. "Explorer", Capt. Mahr. was standing by.

Have very little on her except from a newspaper story in the ALASKA DISPATCH for Nov. 29, 1901. Stated she was towing the disabled str. "Farallon" south in B.C. waters.

10/12/98 paper mentions the little steamer "Pilgrim" Capt. 'Windy Bill' Raymond hit a rock near Seward City on 9th and sunk. Mail got pretty wet. The vessel was later raised and towed to Skagway for repairs.

This vessel was familiar to Gastineau Channel definitely during 1899 and 1900. She was the tug that towed the sailing barges "Colorado" and "Richard III" both ways from Comox, B.C. to Treadwell. Coal north and concentrates south.

8/4/1901 under Capt. Cutler, she arrived at Skagway. Had towed barge "Richard III" to Treadwell and was to pick it up on southbound trip.

In the summer of 1901 she made a triple unit tow from Van. B.C. to St. Michael and reported having no trouble.

K.M.J. 8/10/1901 says she will go to Skagway and tow the scows "Dawson", "McConnell", and "Ogilvie" to Van. for Adair Bros. These will be fitted for the Yukon River and towed to St. Michael by the "Pilot"

Good yarn in ALASKA NEWS Sept. 13, 1894—tells of her being eyesore to Navy and sent to Alaska. She was obsolet, underpowered, etc. Made trip Sitka to Juneau in 11 days—averaged 3 knots. Had to have machine shop in eng. room to keep machines going. Sitka poet made poem called "Pinta Ninety Miles Away". Anchored in Wrangel Narrows in fairway—S.S. "Queen" rushing through nearly rammed her—choice words between Navy officer and Capt. Jim Carrol of the "Queen". Carrol called her a 'spit box' etc. Some time later the Navy man sent an orderly on board the "Queen" to demand an apology—a letter was sent back but the content never divulged—the two men never spoke after that.

"Hatian Republic" built in 1885 as the "Haytian" later used for running contraband to rebels in Haiti and seized there in 1889. U.S. Gov't. forced her release and irate Haitians had gun-boat intercept her leaving Port au Prince. She managed to evade the gun-boat but not without numerous visible scars which she still had when she made the Pacific Coast. Was not successful ship as passenger str. or cannery ship so owners chartered her to a Portland firm who used her for smuggling Chinks and opium into the country. She was then seized by the Gov't. and later sold. Had been very successful in last trade. New owners refitted her and used her legitimately in all ports from Panama to Nome. She later became a unit of the Alaska Coast Co. and it was while with them that she was wrecked at Katalla during a severe snowstorm Nov. 12, 1910. To be replaced by the "Adm Sampson"

M.D. 12/31/1955----Picts and info. on 4th vessel of that name of the American President Lines, fleet. At this time she is on her initial voyage to the Far East and return.

The original "Pres. Jackson" which long will be remembered on Seattle waterfront, was built in 1921 at Newport News, Va. for the U.S. Shp. Bd. forerunner of the present Federal-Maritime Board. This vessel, a beautiful pass. ship with space for 859 pass, was placed in service with four sisters between Seattle and the Orient. Operated by American Mail Lines.

In 1926 the American Mail Lines, now a subsidiary of American President Lines, purchased the 5 ships from the Admiral Oriental Line which had acquired them from the Govt. The "Pres. Jackson" served the Seattle transpacific trade until taken over by the Navy in 1940 and renamed U.S.S. "Zeilin". After completion of her War service she was decommissioned and eventually scrapped.

The second of the name was one of seven new vessels

In big blow of 1934 she parted her moorings and drifted away from Pier 41, striking the sternwheeler "Harvester" and capsizing and rendering her a total loss. She did considerable other damage along the docks before subdued. Some time later she heeled over at the Todd drydock when some workman forgot to replace a plate in her hull. A man was drowned in the engine room. She was later raised and towed to Qtr.Mstr. Hbr. where she became a landmark. In the fall of 1938 she was sold to Philippine interests and left Seattle with a mixed crew commanded by Capt. C.J. Onrubia. She wrecked on the Wash. Coast, 12 miles south of the Ozette River, Jan. 2, 1903. 18 Norwegians lost their lives—two, Christopher Hanson, 2nd Mate and Knud Larsen a sailor were the only survivors. Hanson said the vessel mistook a light in the window of the Birkestal brothers cabin for Tatoosh Island beacon. The schooner broke in two soon after she went on the rocks, and only the stern was visible.

A group of Seattle Norwegians met and four men were selected to go to the scene and bury the dead. Capt. John Johnson owner and master of the schooner "Pilot" and C.J. Johnson a Seattle undertaker, with two others went to Neah Bay and got Indian guides to take them overland to the wreck. The three Birkestal brothers, Ivar, Ole and Tom had buried them in shallow graves on the beach. They were dug up and reburied in a huge grave 14' square. Later a monument was erected to their memory and planted over the grave. The names of all were cut in the stone

Built about 1928 by the C.N.R. for the Seattle, Vict. Van. run along with the sister ships "Henry" and "Robert". Travelled at 23 knots.

Passed to Greek interests after the War II and in Mar. 1952 was back in England at a yard and was to be scrapped.

She was laid up in Vancouver, B.C. when War II broke out and was converted into a very efficient and swift cruiser. Then she became a landing ship and took part in the landings in Italy and on the Normandy coast. Later passed to Greeks and converted to a frtr. and operated in that capacity until her powerful turbines gave out late in 1951. She will be scrapped in England. Had been renamed the "Charlton Monarch"

Built at Newcastle, England in 1910, and a twin sister to the "Prince Rupert" 3372 gross; 1625 net; 306.7' x 42.2' x 24'. Sister ship to "Prince Rupert".

Burned at Ketchikan 1945, Towed by A.T.S. tugs, assisted some by C.G. to West side of Pennock Id, then beached on East side of Gravina Island.

In the fall of 1948, three Ketchikan men who called themselves the South Seattle Salvage Co. Wm. R. Nickey, Avery Sprague and N.J. Lisbin started salvage operations on the vessel. They operated the salvage boat "Linda". Many large concerns claimed the refloating of the "Geo" was an impossibility but the three men managed to float her enough to move her to a better beach on Gravina Id. and then in Aug. 1948 they had her patched and had the "Donna Foss" of the Foss Co. tow her to Seattle. As she drew 17' they were unable to take her to their property in the Duwamish where they had planned to scrap her. At time of start of salvage they had been offered $27.00 a ton for scrap but now the market is down to $9, so they are going to wait a while. Estimated 2500 to 3100 tons of scrap. She is moored in West Seattle.

PRINCESS ELAINE

C. P. R.
Large Passenger str.
S.P.I. (Don Page) 12/29/1967—"PRINCESS ELAINE" is back on even keel after being atilt on low tide her first night in Seattle while moored at the Beach Broiler wharf on Duwamish Head yesterday. Owner, Mrs. Selma Rodgers says a sea valve opened up on her tow down from Blaine and added to the trouble. Anyhow, Foss tugs moved the "ELAINE" a little farther North, to the Van Vetter pier. She is apparently undamaged and will be back in about a week to her permanent berth. She will be ready to open in about two months as the new floating restaurant queen of Elliot Bay.

SPI (Page) 2/21/’68—Mrs. Rogers says "It looks like everybody wants the "ELAINE" but Seattle." The 78 yr. old Seattle woman was pleased when the vessel was towed here late last fall to tie up near her Beach Broiler on Duwamish Head. But she says she's run into obstacles with the city getting various utilities squared away—"Everything on water is very, very expensive," she says. She has a proposal from Redondo Beach, Calif., and also says a man is flying in from Honolulu to talk business. She could make a fair profit, she says.

D.A.Disp. 11/19/1909 says she arrived at Juneau last night during a big "Taku" wind. Had some troubles.
10/13/1933/6 S.S. "Princess Ena" wrecked on Copper Island Reef, B.C., yesterday. Owned by the Bidwell Street Cannery in B.C. Was being towed by the tug "Jedway" when she grounded. Listed so badly no lifeboats could be launched. Five men on her had to swim ashore and the rest were rescued by the tug "Sea Wave" but still had to swim about 200 yds!
NOTICE: This could be easily be the "Princess Etna" due to a typographical error—D.A.Disp. 6/16/1916 says "Princess Etna", a Canadian collier is at Juneau discharging coal.

M.D. Sept. 2, 1950 retired after 47 yrs. service.

Still holds the Seattle-Victoria speed record of 2 hrs.
Built by Swan & Hunter Ltd. at Newcastle, England in 1903. Twin screw, 300' long and designed exclusively for operations out of Vancouver, B.C. on the triangle run to Victoria and Seattle.

Arrived here in 1904, and soon acclaimed the 'speed queen' of the Pacific Coast because of her speed. It is believed that her engines were originally designed for a Russian cruiser.

In 1930, after 26 years of service she was pulled out at the Yarrows Yard at Esquimalt, B.C. and widened 18' giving her an automobile carrying capacity of 60 vehicles. Even with her extreme breadth she reeled off 19 knots on her trial run.

Recently she underwent an overhaul and was placed on the Nanaimo run. Whether she will continue on the run for some years to come, or whether the arrival of the new "Princess Marguerite" will place her in the boneyard remains to be seen.
