Scope and Contents Note

MS 101 v. 1, the Emma Louise Weinberg scrapbook, includes photos and postcards of Alaska Steamship Co. crew and passengers, St. Paul, Nome, Siberia, and other locations, Eskimos, Father B.R. Hubbard, and scenics; typescripts titled The Treasure Isles of the Bering Sea and Fur Seal Industry of Pribilof Islands, Alaska; newspaper clippings; Alaska Steamship Co. brochures, passenger announcements, passenger list, the onboard newsletters Mukluk Wireless and SS Victoria Radio News, tourism publications, and pictorials; salmon cannery labels.

PROCESSING:
The pages of the scrapbook have a unique numbering system:

Newspapers	Roman numerals	I - V
Photographs	Arabic numerals	1-239
Publications	5 + decimal numbering	5.1 – 5.18
Miscellaneous items	Arabic numeral + a	1a - 56a

Some loose items were not numbered. The salmon labels (two facing pages and a loose mylared page containing more labels between them) were not numbered.

In April 2007 the loose items at the beginning were given i and ii page numbers. The two items found together between (fully numbered) pages in the middle were moved to the end and given numbers based on this system. They did not pertain to the pages in which they were found in particular. The salmon can labels were given the numbers L -1 through L-10. Conservation was done on items to stabilize them for handling and exhibit. Unattached but numbered items were reattached or put in a separate folder. MAS 4/6/07

This volume 1 was microfilmed in April 2007.
