Montgomery, Ethel M., 1896-1989
Ethel M. (Clayton) Montgomery Papers, 1934-1989
MS 136

12 manuscript boxes
6.25 linear ft.
9 additional boxes:
clippings and publications

Processed by: Gladi Kulp, Sept.-Dec. 1993
Processed by: Kathryn Shelton
Processed by: Anastasia Tarmann

Acquisition: Ethel Montgomery's collection of Alaska Native Arts and Crafts Cooperative, Inc. (ANAC) business records and personal memorabilia was donated to the Library by daughter, Jean C. Berg, in 1989-1990 (Acc. # 89-5, 89-33, 90-2, 2010-044).

Access: The collection is unrestricted.

Copyright: Request for permission to publish material from the collection should be discussed with the librarian. Photocopying does not constitute permission to publish.

Processing: The collection was received unorganized except for some subject file arrangement. Whenever possible original order was maintained. File names or titles designated by Montgomery are enclosed in single quotation marks. Outgoing correspondence is arranged chronologically, incoming correspondence, alphabetically. Routine financial records were retained because of names contained therein. Papers are usually described to the folder level although contents of folders are sometimes listed. ANAC publications and others, mostly on Alaska Natives or Alaska Native artisans, were added to the Alaska State Library's Historical Collections. Duplicate items were discarded or offered to other institutions. Separation sheets were placed in files where original order would be affected by removal of the items. Conservation included removal of acid-based fasteners and containment of fragile papers in mylar envelopes. As an ongoing project, clippings of Alaska Natives will be listed and cited (w/hl/ms/anacname.doc). Photographs form a separate collection, PCA 348, with the exception of 16 photographs in Box 4, folder 4, personal correspondence. See also MS136-3-23 Artists business records, and ANAC names & citations clippings.

BIOGRAPHICAL/ HISTORICAL NOTE

Ethel M. (Clayton) Montgomery, collector and promoter of Native arts and crafts, docent, and well-known Juneau hostess, was born on March 12, 1896 in northeastern Nebraska, Montgomery graduated from Wayne State Normal. She taught elementary school in Nebraska and married Ivil J. Montgomery in 1917. The Montgomerys had three children -- Jean, Chloe, and Neil C. After they arrived in Juneau, Alaska in 1949, Ethel Montgomery actively promoted the sale of products, handmade by Native artisans, through the Alaska Native Arts and Crafts Clearinghouse, later renamed the Alaska Native Arts and Crafts Cooperative Association, Inc., known from its inception as ANAC. Montgomery was advisor and volunteer at the ANAC Cache, an outlet for Native arts and crafts in Juneau. She was a well-known docent at the Alaska State Museum and led local tours for local groups such as the Juneau Chamber of Congress. Montgomery remained active until her death on January 31, 1989, in Juneau.

Alaska Native Arts and Crafts Cooperative, Inc.
Organizational History

- 1937-1938 Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA), a federal agency, set up the Alaska Native Arts and Crafts Clearing House (ANAC) in Juneau Arts and Crafts Division set up by Alaska Native Service (ANS), a branch of the BIA.
BIA superintendent Claude M. Hirst appointed Virgil Farrell, a Nome BIA teacher, as the first supervisor of the native arts and crafts clearing house.
- 1939 Government trademark issued for Alaskan native products to guarantee authenticity
- 1940 BIA appointed Virgil Farrell superintendent of the ANS
BIA appointed Harvey Starling, Kotzebue BIA teacher, Supervisor of Arts and Crafts
- 1944 BIA assigned Harvey Starling to the newly-established position of Arts and Crafts Manager
Don C. Foster, ANS superintendent, at the recommendation of Harvey Starling, appointed Don Burrus as an assistant and general manager of ANAC and added some of Harvey Starling's previous duties to his own

- 1945 Harvey Starling was transferred Supervisor of Arts to the Education Division as Supervisor of Education for the ANS
- 1947 Responsibility for ANAC was redesignated from the Education Division of ANS to the Native Resources Division
- 1949 Adopted ANAC trademark
- 1950 Eliminated 2% service charge on merchandise and implemented conventional retail mark-up policy
- 1952 ANAC became self-supporting
- 1956 April 23, the ANAC severed its ties to government and became a private, cooperatively-owned, self-supporting, nonprofit corporation under the Laws of the Territory of Alaska; the Alaska Native Arts and Crafts Clearing House (ANAC) became Alaska Native Arts and Crafts Cooperative Association, Inc., (still known as ANAC)
- 1958 Direct mail, common during the early years, was publicized and increased to combat the influx of fraudulent misrepresentations and imitations appearing in retail outlets
- 1961 ANAC Cache, retail shop in Juneau, opened under the management of Ethel Montgomery
ANAC received loan from BIA; discontinued consignment policy and began to purchase directly from members
- 1968 Alaska State Legislature introduced Bill No. 535 to create the Alaska Native Crafts Corporation to promote and market Alaska native crafts
- 1972-1973 Moved general operations to Anchorage; ANAC Cache continued to operate in Juneau
- 1974 Constructed warehouse which served as office headquarters and wholesale outlet, and opened retail gallery in downtown Anchorage

- 1975 ANAC Cache in Juneau and Anchorage warehouse were sold; wholesale and retail operations were consolidated in a single gallery space in downtown Anchorage
- 1984 Corporate structure changed from Alaska Native Arts and Crafts Cooperative Association, Inc., to ANAC Association, Inc.

[Time line was constructed from Ethel Montgomery's notes, the recollections of Don Burrus, former manager of ANAC, and Guide to the Historical Records of the Alaska Native Arts and Crafts Clearing House by Christina F. Kreps.]

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTES

The Ethel Montgomery Collection, circa 1934 to 1989, is arranged in four series: I. ANAC Files. II. Personal Papers. III. Clippings and publications. IV. Photographs (PCA 348). The ANAC files include correspondence, administrative and business records, newspaper clippings, personnel information, biographical information on artisans, catalogs, price lists, publications, advertising, and crafts catalogs from other outlets. Ethel Montgomery's personal papers consist of correspondence, docent files, phonograph records, song books, song sheets, and memorabilia -- such as guest books, invitations, announcements, programs, playbills and scripts. The photographs collection includes black-and-white and color photographs, slides, illustrations, and graphics from ANAC and Montgomery's personal papers.
