HISTORICAL NOTE

The publication “The View from the Future, 2017: Fifty Years After the Alaska Purchase Centennial,” will look back at each of the centennial projects to evaluate its economic, cultural and social contribution; celebrate and record the spirit of the communities that participated by developing a project or building; and explore the similarities and differences of the public dynamic that is present today within the various locations.”

(Taken from Capital City Weekly article, “State publication will celebrate centennial of Alaska’s purchase”, August 8-14, 2012)

SCOPE AND CONTENTS NOTE

The collection contains the original audio recorded interviews each writer/historian was able to make while researching for his/her part of the book. The collection also includes administrative papers, such as the photograph use permission forms.

There is also an e-book that contains more material than the printed book. Some of the collection, such as the music record, were used in the making of the e-book.
