Revised: 11/2006 mas; 03/2007 sml; 03/2011 jas

ACQUISITION: The Vincent Soboleff collection of glass plate negatives was donated to the Alaska Historical Library by Mrs. Vera Soboleff Bayers (Vincent's sister) in 1968.

ACCESS: The collection is available for viewing; however, the photographs may not be photocopied. Please Note: Not all of the glass plates were copied for viewing. The finding aid for the Vincent Soboleff collection contains all of the photographs received. Therefore, gaps appear in the microfiched photos and the actual photo collection. Assistance may be required when using this collection.

Photographs available for viewing via VILDA:

Digitized photographs not available via VILDA:

COPYRIGHT: Request for permission to publish or reproduce material from the collection should be discussed with the Librarian.

PROCESSING: Most of the plate negatives were in good condition; however older plates were water damaged. Mr. Bayers sorted, labeled and preserved the glass plates. Select images were copied onto Microfiche (see note above). The photographs are sleeved in Mylar and housed in acid-free containers.

BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE

With his wife Olga, Father John Soboleff moved to Killisnoo from San Francisco in the early 1890s. In Killisnoo, Father Soboleff served the Russian Orthodox Church. In about 1896, Father Soboleff purchased a camera for his three children. The children used the camera, but Vincent took most of the views and retained the camera until the 1920's.

Vincent Soboleff (nickname: “Vita”) operated the Kootznahoo Store in Angoon for many years. After his death in 1950, Vincent's nephew, Lloyd "Kinky" Bayers visited the store and found several hundred glass plate negatives in the attic.

The Soboleff family photographs cover a variety of subjects from Killisnoo to Angoon, Alaska. The most notable views cover Tlingit Indian culture, Russian Orthodox church activities, and the fishing industry. Other subjects include Juneau and Sitka, and views by other commercial photographers.

Mrs. Vera Bayers also donated the files and books of her son, Captain Lloyd H."Kinky" Bayers. The Lloyd "Kinky" Bayers collection is considered a comprehensive historical resource for Juneau.

Per Ross Soboleff: Vincent Soboleff’s brother Sasha (Ross’s grandfather) married a Tlingit woman (Ross's grandmother); they owned a store in Angoon also.
