Case and Draper, Photographers
Case and Draper Photograph Collection, 1898-1920
PCA 39

Revised 11/28/2001

BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE

The W.H. Case and H.H. Draper photography studios opened in 1898, in a small tent in Skagway, Alaska. The partners later moved their business to a two-story building on Broadway near 4th Avenue, where they also sold curios, photographic supplies, Alaska Native handicrafts and game specimens. By 1907, the partnership between Case and Draper had been mutually dissolved; Draper kept the Skagway shop while Case opened a new store in Juneau (Alaska).

Herbert Horace Draper was born on July 5, 1855, in Rockford, Illinois. At the age of 19, his family moved from Michigan to Oregon. Draper worked as a commercial agent in Bellingham, Washington, and Astoria, Oregon, before following the 1898 Gold Rush to Skagway. After establishing a business with Case, Draper married a local school teacher named Harriet and became an active member of the community. Upon his death in 1913, Skagway mourned his passing by closing all businesses for the day. The Draper photo studio was purchased by the Keller Brothers Drug Company of Skagway.

William Howard Case was born April 19, 1868, in Marshalltown, Iowa, and lived most of his life in South Dakota and Oregon. He went to the Klondike during the 1898 Gold Rush and secured several claims in Atlin, before establishing his business in Skagway. Case moved to Juneau in 1907, where he operated the Case photo studios. He had three children; Howard, Alice and Madge (Madge married Hugh Wade, Secretary of the Territory of Alaska from 1959-1966). Case was active in the Juneau community as a Mason and Shriner. He died there suddenly on July 16, 1920. His studio was reopened after his death by E. C. Adams.
SCOPE AND CONTENTS NOTE

Case and Draper were best known for their portraits and photographs of the life and customs of the Tlingit Indians, early Skagway, and the Gold Rush of 1898. Their views were reproduced in a variety of Alaskan books, including The Soapy Smith Tragedy, and on postcards and White Pass & Yukon Railway souvenir playing cards. Collection includes views of southeast Alaska, portraits, and Tlingit Indians, 1898-1920.

PROCESSING NOTE

Views 1223, 1224, 1225 were printed from negatives which were added from backlog in Sept 2007 with no provenance.

Five glass plate copy negatives, 13” x 16” were added from backlog with no provenance. The negatives were foldered and stored in OS vault.

In the mid-1980s, the Alaska State Library received a grant from the Alaska Historical Commission to microfiche nearly 8,000 photographs from various collections. A book of the microfiche, which includes PCA 39, is in the Historical Collections Research Center for use by researchers.
