SCOPE AND CONTENTS NOTE

Between 1930 and 1938, Kenneth Chisholm, a St. Ignatius student at the time, Ed Levin and several others accompanied Jesuit priest, Father Bernard R. Hubbard (also known as "the glacier priest" and "the flying priest") on a series of Alaska expeditions. On the 1930 journey, the group made base camp on the Aniakchak River and traveled through Aniakchak, Veniaminof, the Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes and King Island. The snapshots reflect members of the group, camps and camp life, cooking and cooks, hiking, various villages and Eskimos.

Manuscripts form a separate collection, MS 50. See also Aniakchak: Largest Explosive Crater In the World (DVD 283) and Mush, You Malemutes! (DVD 184).
