BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE

Bea Shepard arrived in Alaska in 1946. She became very involved in the local Methodist churches while working for the Territorial Department of Health, and took up photography as a hobby. Work for the health department had her traveling while she took part in the research for the book, Wild, Edible and Poisonous Plants of Alaska. She also published essays about the Vitamin C content of Alaskan fruits and berries. Later she again traveled all over Alaska in her role as chairman of advocacy on the board of the Friends of the Alaska State Museum. In 1986 she included her photography in publishing the book, Have Gospel Tent Will Travel: the Methodist Church in Alaska since 1886. Shepard’s love of capturing her travels and scientific research with the camera corresponds to her interest in Case and Draper’s photographs.

SCOPE AND CONTENTS NOTE

This collection primarily contains Case and Draper photograph contact prints created by Bea Shepard. Shepard made the prints from the glass plate negatives while they were in her care.

She later donated the complete Case and Draper negative and print collection to the Alaska Historical Library in the name of her friend William Norton, from whom she had obtained the negatives. (PCA 226).

Also included are notebooks Ms. Shepard wrote which include indexes of the photograph printing work she did.

The majority of the photographs correspond to prints in the William R. Norton Photograph Collection (PCA 226). The subjects cover Southeast Alaska, with a focus on Skagway’s Soapy Smith, Juneau, Treadwell, Mining, Fishing, and 4th of July celebrations.
